Systems thinker: projects, programmes and AI-led content

Bath / Bristol, UK | humanarchitect@protonmail.com | twinthos.com

I bring systems thinking and several disciplines together to run projects from first idea to finished result: content, AI generation, communication, operations and prediction. Thirteen years in digital business, online education and content now feed one focus: AI that maps how companies work and predicts how projects will perform. I connect with people before I explain anything.

CURRENT EXPERIENCE

Twinthos

Founder | Systems, AI workflows and simulation | Present

- Map how a company's work actually runs: teams, tools, handoffs and the operational drag between them. Design the workflows that remove it.
- Build AI agents for repetitive admin, customer enquiries and follow-up, with written rules and a named person accountable.
- Run AI simulation models that help forecast how projects, products and ideas are likely to perform before commitments are made.
- Direct AI agents and cloud computers for research, content, website build and publishing. Compare models on quality, capability and cost.

SYSTEMS AND PROJECT CAPABILITIES

Company architecture. Map how a business is built, find where work stalls, and redesign it.

Prediction and simulation. Build models that help forecast how projects, products and ideas will perform.

Viral content and campaigns. Short-form content and multi-channel campaigns built to spread.

AI generation. Photorealistic imagery and AI UGC-style video, checked before use and labelled as AI where required.

Communication. Connect with people first, then explain, so the message lands.

EARLIER CAREER

Humanarchitect

Founder and content creator | Instagram account built and sold in 2025

- Built a large Instagram audience through daily organic content on education, mindset and personal development.
