Tyson Mandela

Systems thinker for projects and AI-led content

Bath / Bristol, UK | humanarchitect@protonmail.com | twinthos.com

I bring systems thinking and several disciplines together to run projects from first idea to finished result. Thirteen years in digital business, education and content now point at AI: mapping how companies work and predicting how projects will perform. I connect with people before I explain anything.

20M
monthly views at peak (self-reported)

2,000+
students taught online

13 yrs
business, education, content

CURRENT EXPERIENCE

Twinthos

Founder | Systems, AI workflows and simulation | Present

- Map how a company's work runs and design the workflows that remove its operational drag.
- Build AI agents for repetitive admin, with written rules and a named person accountable.
- Run AI simulation models that help forecast how projects, products and ideas will perform.
- Direct AI agents for research, content and publishing. Compare models on cost and quality.

CAPABILITIES

Company architecture. Map how a business is built and where its work stalls.

Prediction and simulation. Forecast how projects, products and ideas will perform.

Viral content and campaigns. Short-form content and campaigns built to spread.

AI generation. Photorealistic imagery and AI UGC-style video, checked before use.

Communication. Connect with people first, then explain, so the message lands.

EARLIER CAREER

Humanarchitect

Founder and content creator | Instagram account built and sold in 2025

- Built a large audience with daily organic content on education and mindset.
- Promoted digital products and books to that audience.
- Author of published books, written under a pen name.

Online learning community

Owner and educator | 2,000+ students at peak

- Built and taught a community on health, mindset and personal development.

TOOLS AND METHODS

Hermes Agent • Orgo • Nous Portal • Claude • DeepSeek • Solar Structured prompting • Simulation models